

I'm not surprised that Michael Powell has decided not to act against Sinclair Broadcasting, which will be forcing its stations to broadcast the anti Kerry political diatribe. Although it's clear that the owner of Sinclair is a staunch political supporter of the administration it is equally clear that Mr. Powell is also their man. It's nice to have connections! I'm sure he knows which side his bread is buttered on. Let's hope that when Kerry is elected he will return control of the airwaves to the people.
